

Angular Momentum Projection with Pfaffian

M. Oi¹

¹Senshu University, Japan

Using a new method proposed by L. Egidio based on the Pfaffian, norm overlap kernels necessary for angular momentum projection is calculated. The comparison will be given with the standard method using the analytical continuation method. Advantages and disadvantages of the new method is discussed.